

Dress Correctly

Mr. Business Man:

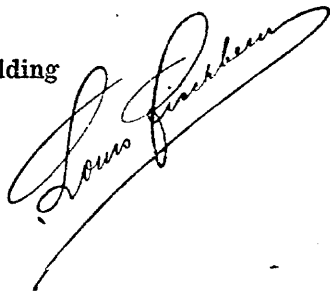

You must dress correctly at all times. This does not mean foolish foppishness nor youthful gaiety in your clothes. It means simple, well fitting, finely made garments. Shakespeare said: "Costly thy habit as thy purse can buy, but not expressed in fancy, rich not gaudy." That was three hundred years ago.

I now have one of the best cutters in the country. I have always handled the best cloth made. You can buy for the same money that you will pay for a ready-made suit (at present prices) a customs made suit of excellent material and perfect design. Drop in and see me about this.

Remember! You are judged and the state of your business is judged by the clothes you wear. Look after yourself with at least half the care you give your motor car.
