T. C. Bolton. the well known photographer died at 12 m. to-day, at his rooms over the Pacific Express Company's office. The disease which carried him off was consumption. He was 56 years of age, and a native of St. Louis. He was a Mason, a member of a St. Louis lodge in good standing. He will be buried by Powell, at 3 o'clock tomorrow from his residence. He was an estimable citizen, and his loss will be felt in both commercial and social circles.
