

Earle Stanley Burge, aged five years and fifteen days, died of scarlet fever and other complications at the home of his parents, on Santa Fe street, at 9 o'clock this morning. For twenty-five days the little sufferer withstood the ravages of disease until this morning when the tired spirit took its flight. The blow falls with crushing severity upon Mr. and Mrs. Burge as the dispensation makes theirs a childless home. The funeral occurred this afternoon with interment at Concordia.
