

Death of Miss Jennie Clark.

A letter from Eugene Clark, now residing at Boston, Mass., to County Clerk Thomas conveys the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Jennie Clark, aged 31 years.

Miss Jennie came to El Paso in December 1885, to take a position with her brother Frank, who was then county clerk. Her ability in that line was soon demonstrated and she proved a valuable assistant, so valuable that when Mr. Thomas took the office she was continued as his deputy. In February last Miss Clark's health proved so bad that she took a trip to Galveston, hoping to soon return to her duties, but not finding relief in that climate she visited her old home, too late, however, to find relief. The announcement of Miss Clark's death will cause regret in the heart of almost every citizen of El Paso, and especially so with those who knew her intimately, either from social relations or from their business with the county clerk's office.
