

JOE KERBEY IS DEAD IN AUSTIN

One of Owners of Big Alexander Addition Is Victim of Pneumonia.

The death at Austin, Tex., of Joe C. Kerbey, jr., of pneumonia on Thursday, was reported Friday morning to Lee H. Orndorff by Arthur Smelley, of Austin.

Mr. Kerbey was well known in this city, being one of the family owning the 640 acre Alexander addition to the city, which extends from its southeast corner at the intersection of East Rio Grande and Kansas streets, at Hotel Dieu, northward and westward to Kern Place addition, taking in all of what is known as the mesa. With D. Storms, local lawyer, Mr. Kerbey practically controlled the addition for many years.

Mr. Kerbey was here about four months ago. He was born and reared in Austin.
