

Colonel Milton Dies In Tucson

Col. Jeff D. Milton, one of the last of the old Texas Rangers and formerly chief of police in El Paso, died in Tucson, Ariz., Wednesday.

Colonel Milton served as chief of police here when William Burgess was city attorney. He later became a customs officer and served as an inspector in the U. S. Immigration Service in Arizona from 1904 to 1932, when he retired at the age of 70.

Funeral services will be conducted in the Congregational Church in Tucson Sunday.
