

Max Moye, 51, Dies At Home

Former Banker, Insurance
Official, Came To El Paso In 1886.

Max Moye, 51, prominent El Paso banker and insurance man until he was forced by ill health to retire from business five years ago, died at the family residence, 1431 Hawthorne Place, at 2 p. m. yesterday.

Mr. Moye was born at San Antonio, Texas, Sept. 6, 1882. He moved to El Paso with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Moye, in 1886, and made his home here until his death.

After completing his education here and in San Antonio, Mr. Moye became interested in banking and was named vice-president of the Union Bank and Trust company. Later he became identified with the closed First National Bank as its vice-president. More recently he was associated with Eckford &

(Continued on Page 8, Column 4)

Kane in the insurance and real estate business.

Health Falls.

His health failed five years ago and he was forced to retire from active business. He had been critically ill for the past 18 months.

Mr. Moye was a life member of the Masonic and Elks' lodges in El Paso.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lily Callisher Moye; two sons, Max Moye, Jr., and Edwin, and a daughter, Adelaide Moye; his father, Edward Moye, and a sister, Mrs. R. Weinstein.

Funeral services will be held at the Peak-Hagedon chapel at 4 p. m. today, with Rabbi Martin Zielonka officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Sinai cemetery. The family requests that friends send no flowers to the funeral.

Pallbearers

Honorary pallbearers will be Leo Gale, Sam Eyer, Ed Sanders, Leon Rosentield, Walter Kohlberg, Dr. N. H. Keller, Dr. Branch Craige, Charles Eckford, J. Kaufman, S. Ullman, Sidney Jacobs, Simon Bahr, A. Schwartz and A. Mathias. Active pallbearers will be Maurice Schwartz, Ed Krohn, Ben Levy, Ed Wisburn, Abe Goldstein and Sidney Mayer.