

DIED.

Editor Ronquillo, of El Monitor.

Jose Ronquillo, editor of El Monitor, a Mexican newspaper published in El Paso, died Saturday night and was buried this morning at the Catholic Concordia cemetery after funeral services at the church of the Sacred Heart at 8 o'clock under the auspices of one of the local Mexican societies. Deceased was 36 years of age and a popular young man. His funeral was the most largely attended of any of his nativity for a long time. He was stricken with pneumonia on Friday night and lived only about twenty-four hours after the attack.