Death of a Pioneer.

Billy Vanstan, a pioneer saloon man and barkeeper of El Paso, a native of St. Louis, aged about 39 years, died in this city at 3 o'clock yesterday morning of Bright's disease of the kidneys. Deceased came to this section as a soldier when he was a mere boy, and thirteen years ago was proprietor of the finest saloon in El Paso, the Cobweb, which stood where the Gem saloon was burned last week. Deceased had been married twice, and leaves a daughter 11 or 12 years of age (by his first wife) in Albuquerque, and a wife in this city.
