

Death of W. W. Whitmyer.

Wiley Watson Whitmyer, who spent some months in El Paso and was a valued writer on the HERALD, under the name of "Wun Lung" died at Huntington, W. Va, last Saturday. Deceased left here with his mother but a few weeks ago, being taken home to die, though himself deluded with the belief that he would soon return to El Paso. He was a victim of consumption. Mr. Whitmyer had marked intellectual and literary ability, and to the last was game in the fight with the malady that ended his life.
