Schooling Changes Needed

The change of guidance programs in schools from a technology to a profession in the human sciences is one of the aims of Mrs. Rosalie Martin, a candidate for place 1 on the April 1 school board election.

"It worries me to hear that the student of today has no self-discipline," said Mrs. Martin.

Mrs. Martin

"I feel that an educational program without discipline is like a person without character. It is for this reason I would like to see the guidance programs of our schools gain the status of a profession in the human sciences rather than a mere technology."

Mrs. Martin is a graduate of Austin High School and has a bachelor of arts degree in psychology and business administration from the University of Texas at El Paso. She is a teacher at Father Yermo School and is head of the business education program. She was also instrumental in establishing a four-year business curriculum at the school.

Mrs. Martin is an officer in the Business and Professional Women's Club, a member of the Catholic Business Teachers Assn., the National Business Assn., the Texas Business Teachers Assn., the El Paso Council on Aging and is sponsor of the Future Business Leaders of America Club at Father Yermo.
