El Paso should have a government mint. By right of the production of gold in the territory contiguous to this city a mint should be located here. W.H. Seamon, manager Earle, of the El Paso smelter, D.W. Reckhart and president Morehead, of the State National bank, are in sympathy with the movement. Upward of $10,000,000 worth of bullion passes through or is produced annually in the country tributary to this city. By the location of a mint here, hundreds of mine owners would be saved freight charges.
